

Baseball Glove Collector.com

1920's Johnny Mostil Marathon 4240

This is one of the most popular and desirable models of the 1920's. It's fantastic. The lining feels great and you want to put it on your hand. The leather is thick and supple with a couple dry spots. It has reinforced welting at the base of the fingers and a cool grommet web. There has been lots written about the Mostil model.....$195

1920's Lefty O'Doul JC Higgins 1655

This model features a double tunnel loop web. The leather is supple and feels great on the hand. The leather piping is near perfect and the stampings are bold. The only flaw is the L on the end. It's darker. Near perfect glove.....$150

1940's Frank Frisch Spalding 128

This is a super huge model. It's very wide. The leather is nice and it feels great on the hand. Stampings are bold and legible.....$125

1950's Harvey Haddix Rawlings HH The Kitten

This is one of the most desirable and classic of all 1950's models. It's a professional quality top of the line Rawlings. It's huge. It's the model Willie Mays used to make "the catch" in the 1954 World Series. The web has been relaced and the tag is torn.....$125

1940's Babe Ruth Spalding

This Ruth is in beautiful condition inside and out. It's super clean with bold stampings and a nice Spalding incised button. It feels great on the hand. Minor wear to piping.....$400

Baseball Glove Collector.com

1920's Claude Davidson Horace Partridge

This is only Claude Davidson model I have ever seen. I have no idea who he is. It's a double tunnel loop web model with a repair stitch on one of the loops. It features a nice black & gold Horace Partridge tag. It has a patent date of November 13, 192?. Nice glove.....$185

1950's Johnny Podres Rawlings G300

This is a super clean example of the great Brooklyn Dodgers pitcher. It's a 1957 model and has a nice Rawlings incised button. It shows no use at all but there is a faint name or mark on the back of the pinky.....$60

1960's Willie Mays Brunswick-MacGregor GC28

This is a rare 1963 transitional model when Brunswick used the joint name of Brunswick MacGregor, as evidenced on the tag, after purchasing Goldsmith. It's a Personal Model and it features the Adjusta Wrist Strap. There is a name on the wrist strap.....$175

1960's Whitey Ford Spalding 42-345

This is an unused 1962 model in near perfect condition. It feels great on the hand. It features a beautiful Spalding tag and has no flaws....$100

1970's Mickey Mantle Rawlings GJ99

This is just about perfect. Too bad it's an import. It's a picture pocket model..... $50